has forwarded to the Tariff Commission—is in progress, it was learn-

Attorney General Daugherty will be asked to look into the tariff end of it while Secretary of Commerce Hoover will probe the commission and the President has been ar-

tain the truth of the situation, which is causing Mr. Harding much alarm will be discussed.

MITCHELL MAKES FULL EXPLANATION TO WIFE'S FAMILY

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28.—John Kearley Mitchell, the mysterious "Mr.
Marshall" in the unsolved murder mystery of Dorothy King, New York model, has made full explanation to his wife and father-in-law, E. T.
Stotesbury of his part in events which preceded the murder but no information of the family "council of war" has leaked out.

The "Council of war" was held at the stately home of Stotesbury at White Marsh and a reunion was held last night at the Mitchell residence on East Rittenhouse Square. After the family conference at White Marsh

bile and drove to Rittenhouse Square.
Mr. Mitchell stepped from the machine, helped his wife and the couple ran hurriedly into the house where they spent the night.

H. B. POWELL CELEBRATES FIFTY-ONE YEARS' CONNECTION WITH THE COUNTY NATIONAL BY DOING BIG DAY'S WORK

Today marked the 51st anniversary of President H. B. Powell's connection with the County National Bank, Clearfield county's oldest and largest banking institution. When
Mr. Powell entered his office at the bank this morning he found a handsome bouquet on his desk, the gift of
the employees of the bank, as a reminder of his passing of another milestone in the bank's service.

Fifty-one years ago, or on March 28, 1872, the worthy President, then a bright, energetic country boy with his
life before him, and the purpose in
mind of making his way in the world,
entered the bank as a sort of messenger boy or handy man about the little banking institution which has since grown into such a sturdy financial giant. Alert and attentive to his duties he soon made himself indispensable about the place, by reason of his industry and energy. And by sheer merit alone advanced by the slow but sure methods of this

stable, conservative, careful country
banking institution until he reached
the top and was placed in the responsible position he has graced the past eighteen years.

Mr. Powell grew up with the bank,
his development as a successful banker and financier easily equalling the growth of his bank, until today he is
looked upon in financial circles as one
of the ablest and best equipped bankers in the State of Pennsylvania. His advice and opinions being widely
sought and universally respected.

Some men and some institutions
consider half a century the measure
of a man's business activity and provide for retirement at that golden

WOODROW WILSON PREPARING TO TAKE BIG PART IN SELECTION OF THE 1924 DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEES

Washington, D. C. March 28.—
Woodrow Wilson, who since recovering his health has been taking a more active part in politics, will endeavor
to play a prominent part in the selection of a Democratic candidate for President in 1924 according to his closest friends here.

Mr. Wilson, as his health continues to improve, has been prominent in
party affairs during the last few weeks and is said to have had conferences with political leaders at his home on S. Street. Mr. Wilson's great hope still is that the United States will join the League of Nations and he is desirous of having nominated a man pledged to such a course.

The Tragedy of "Mr. Marshall"

MR. J. K. MITCHELL

J. K. MITCHELL

DOROTHY KING

Mrs. John Kearley Mitchell, Philadelphia society leader and daughter of E. T. Stotesbury, one of America's foremost financiers, says she has full confidence in her husband. Mitchell has admitted that he is the mysterious "Mr. Marshall," generous admirer of Dorothy King, murdered Broadway butterfly. Mitchell will soon meet his wife who is hurrying from Palm Beach to Philadelphia. New York police are pursuing the theory that Miss King was murdered when she failed to carry out a scheme to blackmail Mitchell for $100,000.

JUNKERS CRYING FOR NEW WAR

VON HINDENBURG TELLS GERMANS TO FIGHT UNTIL LAST BLADE IS SHATTERED; LAST FLAG SHREDDED

Socialists Trying to Save Republic From Ruin at Hands of Pan-German Element

By CARL D. GROAT.

(U. S. Press Staff Correspondent)
Berlin, March 28 (United Press)—
Pan-Germans and Junkers, always
warlike, are again at work preaching an anti-French war.

The Ruhr invasion furnishes them
the theme they needed to inflame a people really war-tired. So now one hears up and down the land the cry of the sword-chair patriot and the loud-mouthed vapors of the swollen junker landlord, preaching revenge. Socialists are trying hard to down this blurb.

General Von Hindenburg, often
accused of lending himself either wit-
tingly or unwittingly to the machinations of the "beer keg parties" is helping preach the new war. He talks
of fighting "until the last flag is shredded; the last blades shattered"

ticipated in by America be called for

tained Saturday evening in honor of their daughter Margaret Helen's

WHAT THE NEW DRY LAW DOES

The Pinchot law:
Repeals the Brooks high license act, with the Woner act
amendments, and this abolishes
all licenses for the sale of beverages with the half of 1 per cent of alcoholic content permitted under the Volstead act.

It allows the sale of such
drinks without restrictions, and
any change in authorized alcoholic content, that shall be made by congress, will automatically become effective in Pennsylvania.

It permits search without
warrant, by any law officer, of
any automobile, truck or other
vehicle, boat or airplane, or of
any container carried by a pedestrian which he may suspect is being used to carry intoxicating
liquors.

The search and seizure clause
authorizes a warrant for the entrance of a house at any time,
upon information alleging reasonable grounds for belief that
liquor is being sold on the premises, and any liquor found may
be seized, the owner being obliged to prove that the same
was acquired prior to the enactment of the bill. The Volstead act restrictions, as to the issuance of such warrants, are provided.

Aldermen, magistrates and justices of the peace are authorized to issue warrants.

Places other than homes may
be searched, under search warrants which allege reasonable
grounds for belief that liquor is
either unlawfully possessed
sold, manufactured or stored
therein.

Any building or place, where
liquor is being made or sold unlawfully, may be closed as a public nuisance for one year.

Violation of the law is punishable by fine of from $100 to $5,000, or imprisonment for
terms up to three years in addition to confiscating of liquor
and property, including automobiles or other vehicles used in unlawful transportation.

It provides that possession of
intoxicating liquor shall be primarily evidence that it was acquired, possessed and used
unlawfully, and the burden of
proof that it was not, rests
upon the accused.

New York, March 28.—Draper
Daugherty, son of Attorney General Daugherty has consented to come to District Attorney Pecora's office this afternoon and tell what he knows about the Dorothy King case. The exact hour at which the young man will appear has not yet been set but it is believed it will be late in the afternoon.

Daugherty, according to a statement attributed to him, was friendly with the "Broadway Butterfly," who was found chloroformed in her apartment March 15th.

WILL REQUIRE THIRTY-SIX HOURS TO READ BILL WHICH PROVIDES FOR BIG CHANGES IN SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT

PREDICTS THREE MORE BILLS WILL BE INTRODUCED IN PINCHOT DRY PLAN

The Philadelphia Record discussing
the Pinchot dry bill yesterday intimated that the administration has managed prohibition legislation which it will introduce before the closing hour today which is the last day for introduction of bills in the House.

The Record has the following comment to make:

It is just beginning to dawn upon
the House that the Snyder "dry" bill
is merely the first of a series that
the Governor proposes to have introduced, and that is the wood pile in which the colored gent is concealed.
In the event of the passage of measure No. 1, according to reliable information tonight, it will be followed:

First, by a bill licensing breweries
for the manufacture of near beer.

Second, by a bill licensing wholesal-
ers for the sale of the product.

Third, a bill taxing retailers who
dispense near beer, regardless of whether they are classed as "saloons,"
cigar stores, pool rooms, restaurants
or any other sort of establishment.

The outstanding feature of the Pin-
chot enforce is a clause abolishing
license and thereby relieve the manufacturers, the wholesalers and the retailers of the obligation of paying a
tax in the shape of a license fee.
"Why, then," the lawmakers are asking, "does the Governor come into the House with a bill abolishing the license and the tax and in subsequent
bills restore both provisions?"

If near beer, as the Governor apparently feels, is so harmless, why
try to regulate its manufacture or sale? Those opposing the enforce-
as drawn have contended from the beginning that under the existing system the courts have more power over
the control of this product than is contemplated in the administration
measure. For that reason they are unable to see the logic in the Governor's position.

Divine Sarah Lies In The Coffin Which Has Been Ready For Thirty Years

Paris, March 28.—The body of Sarah Bernhardt lies today in the rose
wood coffin which she has had ready
for thirty years.

The funeral services will begin at 8:00 a. m. the funeral cortege going
from the residence to the church of St.
Francis DeSales, where the beloved French artist worshipped. The formal rites of the Catholic church will
be read there and then at 11:00 the
remains will be taken to the famous burial ground Pere LaChaise, where
hundreds of France's most distinguished heroes lie. Later the body may be removed to Belle Isle where a vault
will be prepared on the spot Bern-
hardt selected as a final resting place.

THEY COME IN BUNCHES HERE

They say "there is a sucker born

bunches right here in Clearfield, ever after they have grown up and ought

fellow horns in and saves the day for
them—before all is lost.

Gathers Over Hundred State Agencies Under Eighteen Heads With Gov. of Finance Head

Harrisburg, Pa., March 28.—Gov-
nor Pinchot's proposal to reorganize
the state government, mapped out in
a huge bill which will take thirty-six hours to read, was before the Legislature today.

With the dry legislation he sought already a law, Pinchot has turned the attention today to the other two main
planks of his platform, budget and reorganization.

His long waiting administrative code, now under way, would reorganize the government to gather up the ends, centralizing power and especially concentrating the finance control in the hands of the Governor.

The code would gather up the more than one hundred existing separate
agencies of the state government and
place them in fifteen departments and
three commissions.

Junior High Students Break Banking Record Have $3,076 On Deposit

Junior High school pupils made
a record for thrift this school term
of which they have every reason to be proud. The banking plan which was introduced into our schools a couple of years ago, appealed to the boys and girls right off the reel, and as a result thereof many young people have been "dead banks."

There was a contest among the
schools for cash prizes for the best record made for the season, the only one closing with today's banking.
The final checking up and tally showed that Junior High School pupils had
banked thus far in the present school
term a total of $3,076, or something over $1,100 more than the total for
last year.

HART'S WIFE COMES BACK STRONG WHEN BILL ACCUSES HER

Los Angeles, March 28.—Mrs. Wm.
Hart today denied charges made by
her husband, Bill Hart, movie star
that she was responsible for reports
connecting his name with that of a Boston school teacher.

Hart in reply to insinuations that
he was the father of this teacher's il-
legitimate child and that he was paying for the child's support stated that
his wife is responsible for the report.

Mrs. Hart, who is suing for divorce stated she would not mention this in her charges. "What Mr. Hart did before I married him is no concern of mine." "This new development has
no bearing on our trouble," she said.

other than to live in shame." Forget horrors of last war. He is looked by men, who like him, have forgotten the horrors of 1914 and the fateful outcome for the "Vaterland." For instance, Major Sosa engaged in a pro-war propaganda campaign by one of the "faithful" organizations, emits the following:

"Rather sacrifice another million of our best youth; rather lay more bleeding districts in ashes and ruins than to settle the Ruhr conflict through negotiations."

And, joining in this new hymn of hate comes the pan-German Reichstag Deputy, Herr Dietrich, who coined the powerful phrase that the Americans couldn't come, since they couldn't fly or swim, and delivers himself of what the Germans term "beer keg evidence" thus:

"We are for humanity, but the measure is running over. We cannot speak further of reconciliation; now is the time to lose the 'furor' now."

Occupation Fanned War Flame. These figures do not represent the German nation as a whole, though there can be no mistaking that the Ruhr occupation has fanned the war spirit vastly. And, there can be no mistaking that, if Germany once gets new leadership, she will try to smite France. The Ruhr occupation swept away pacifism in Germany. This year's "Nie wieder Krieg" demonstration proved the new spirit. A few hundred attended this never-again-war meeting, held indoors, compared to demonstrations in other years since the war wherein the Lustgarten was jammed to overflowing by an attendance of several hundred thousands.

The Socialists are educating the masses not to "fall for" the vaporings of the professional war-makers and they have been active in pointing out past links between the Reichswehr and the so-called forbidden "self defense" organization. It has been rather clearly established that certain army officers—the army is conservative or monarchistic for the most part—were helping drill these "self-defenders."

Enough War in the Ruhr. "Down in the Ruhr they don't talk war—they are 'carrying the hod.' They know what 'war' is, even though it consists only of passive resistance. And the workers there are eager constantly the government wouldn't pass any opportunities to negotiate, though they add it mustn't be a 'peace at any price.' The populace bubbles over now and then and it can come to bloody scenes. But the masses there say real war would be a misfortune without comparison in the world's history.

The stay-at-homes, like the Prussian junkers, though, still think that war is "glorious" business, and if they had their way—which the saner elements are guarding against—there would be a war, guerilla or otherwise in short order.

Defense Minister Gessler says only the "Verruekten"—the mad—are preaching war now.

H. B. Powell Celebrates Fifty-one Years

poried, but not so with H. B. Powell. He, emulating Tennyson's "Brook," continues on forever, with no lessening of energy. And it is the fervent wish of his friends, the friends of the County National and this community that he may long continue so, as he is an asset to the community that could not be replaced. His clear-headed business judgment during the past half century has been a large factor in the substantial development of our town and county and his life and the success he has earned for himself has been an incentive to success and a model, and will long continue so to be, for the young men and women of Clearfield.

Despite the story the years should tell Mr. Powell remains the sturdy, energetic, clear-thinking banker at his best and reels off work enough every day to overtax the capacity of two or three average men.

Many business and personal friends called at Mr. Powell's office in the bank today to offer congratulations and while chatting reminiscences he stated that of the men engaged in business or employed in the business establishments of Clearfield when he started with the bank, those yet living are John G. Lytle, who was in the mercantile business; John W. Wright, a conveyancer; in Senator Wallace's office; A. W. Lee, lumber, etc.; S. I. Snyder, jeweler; Clement W. Smith, real estate; while A. I. Page was working in Weaver & Betts general store, and A. D. Letzinger employed in Kratzer's store.

May the years continue to deal kindly with H. B. Powell, Clearfield needs him for many years to come.

TRINITY'S HOLY WEEK SERVICES

Have been very profitable and inspiring. The Cross has centered in the music and all the worship. Anthem and chorals together with individual selections have enriched the services. In every one of them the Cross has been the prime theme. This has co-ordinated finely with the cardinal topic for the week, "On His Way to the Cross," which has received comforting presentation and excited faithful interest among the people.

Strangers and members have entered the church for prayer and worship. Trinity has made much of this Holy Week. It is getting proportionate to the church has been kept open every day has been appreciated and widely commented upon.

Tonight's study will be "On His Way, But Hounded." It will take in the demand for His authority, the insidious question concerning the tribute money, the artful query on the resurrection, the lawyer's curious interrogation concerning the relative importance of divine commands, and the Master's silencing question about the paternity of the Messiah. This is particularly men's night. After the meeting, trustees' monthly conference.

Thursday night promises to be a large event for the Methodists of this Clearfield sector. From every one of the outlying appointments they will come to join those of this community in celebrating the Lord's Supper. Rev. J. P. M. Curdy, G. B. M. Reidell, and A. C. Logan from Sandy Ridge Woodland and Clearfield circuit charges, will unite with Rev. C. K. Gibson of Eleventh Street and Rev. W. L. Clarksburg, W. Va., March 26.—(Special)—A spring zephyr blew William Allstock, Mount Clara farmer into jail here today, and he probably will have to stay there a month at least, besides paying a fine of $100 or so. The zephyr swished his coat tail and revealed that he had a pint of moonshine on his hip. Two deputy sheriffs happened to be just behind him.

What is Fastest Living Animal? Man makes a poor show, for the speed of our best sprinters is little more than 20 miles an hour. For some time it was thought that the whippet, which covers a furlong course in about 11 seconds, could claim the title; but his speed, which works out at just over 40 miles an hour, is beaten when compared with that of the antelope, who is capable of reaching a speed of over 60 miles an hour and of keeping it up for some time. What of the racehorse? His great size and his long stride give a false impression of his speed. The pace of the fastest winner on the race track is not much more than 30 miles an hour.

Spring and Easter are unanimous in their demand that the entire family go forth in new Footwear. Even if other new apparel is not available, new Shoes are quite indispensable. Our Easter displays are now complete and as well as portraying new styles at their best, offer the maximum of good wear and desirability.

These Men's Oxfords are just the sort that will appeal to men who want to conform to new Spring styles yet who do not want anything "faddish." Dress, business and sports styles in a very wide range of styles and leathers are ready for selection. They cannot fail to interest men who discriminate in their Shoe selection.

Easter Footwear, in a bewildering array of new styles, is ready to equip any woman with attractive Shoes for any Easter event. Here are Oxfords smartly fashioned in sports and dress styles, strapped Slippers or small-tongued Coloniala, all of which demonstrate they are the season's most fashionable Shoes in their most perfect interpretations.

It is natural that little feet should drag a bit with the coming of warmer days—unless, of course, they are wearing lower, lighter Shoes. All credit to Senator W. I. Batts, Assemblyman Charles B. Jones and W. Hale Batts, Clearfield County's representative, in the Legislature. All voted for the Prohibition Enforcement Bill. So did the representatives from Indiana, Jefferson, Centre and Blair. Even the Cambria delegation only had one web footed fellow in the lot.

Practically the entire one hundred votes against the bill were cast by the Philadelphia and Allegheny County delegations. The former gave 30 of the 100 and the latter 16. Allegheny County, however, came through with 11 for the bill.

Three of the women members voted against the bill. The two from Philadelphia giving no reasons, they being merely mouthpieces of the Philadelphia organization while Miss Helen Grimes made a sad spectacle trying to give an explanation of her curious beliefs.

The passage of the bill is considered a great triumph for Governor Pinchot as the eyes of the entire nation were turned toward this state and already it has gained him considerable mention among Presidential possibilities.

Movement of Flying Fishes
Some highly interesting observations on the flying fishes have been made by Dr. H. H. Henshaw in the Arabian sea. In still weather the length of a glide was about a meter with considerable upward lift. In a light wind this was increased to from 200 to 400 meters. A resplendent line between the wing action of starting glides and the action of the fish was marked. In fact the wing action is inclined upward and the body part at a higher level than the base. In slow, steady flight, while the fish is gliding and inclination is 10 to 15 degrees at high speed—Scientific American.

What a Boy Thinks of You
A boy's sheepishness is by no means a sign of overmastering reverence and, while you are making encouraging advances to him under the idea that he is overwhelmed by a sense of your age and wisdom, up to you he is thinking you extremely queer. The only consolation I can suggest to you is that the Greek boys thought the same of Attilah. It is only when you have mastered a festive horse or the shyest of them or have got a gun in your hand that these shy fellows feel you to be a truly admirable and enviable character—Litchie.

Shedding His Horns.
The interest in the growth development and shedding of the horns of the American antelope has always been a question of decided interest. For a long time it was stoutly disputed that the antelope shed its horns, and the subject constantly found its way into the sporting journals and magazines. I had the honor of being in one of those and the question arose by attention being called to it in an article by a retired soldier of the army. In a somewhat elaborate article, this writer strongly denied that the antelope ever shed its horns, and the editor of the antelope magazine invited me to take the matter up for him. My opinion was that his correspondent was wrong, as the shedding of the horns of this animal has now been known to science for many years, and has been carefully studied and described by a great many competent naturalists—Dr. R. W. Shufeldt, in American Forestry Magazine.

Another Lamb Anecdote.

The following story, which appears in an old volume of "Laugh Hour's Journal," throws an interesting light on Charles Lamb's beautiful relations with his stricken sister, Mary. In his sister were one evening supping at Mrs. M.—s. L. (with another person) had made his way to the bottom of the second bottle of port. "You really shall not have any more," Charles said to his sister. "Pray, Mrs. M., don't give him any more." "You hear what your sister says," Mr. Lamb observed to Mrs. M., pointing out the remains of the port (which was thick) into his glass. "She is a person of mean capacity," said he. "I never listen to her. Try the next bottle, madame; for this is thick, and hospitality should run true to the last."

MEET HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins between Michael Sayers, noted criminal, and Sir Norman Greyer, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, moves him from his Norman castle to a room in a London hotel. Sayers' wife and accomplice, Michael, plots to rob two men, Sir Norman and Greyer, of their money. Janet is brought into England to assist in the robbery. Michael, during the absence of Janet, is brought into England to assist in the robbery. Michael, during the absence of Janet, is brought into England to assist in the robbery.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Sir Norman Continues:

"You are satisfied," my companion asked. "Perfectly," I assured her. "I am going to run no further risk of being recognized. I shall pay the bill and go. You will remain. Remember, it is the woman you must watch. Sayers as much help as you require. She must be watched unceasingly."

I TOOK my departure, and at this stage of my search for the missing gold, I took Rimmington into my confidence. He agreed with me as to the advisability of allowing Michael to remain at large for the present; and so far as he was concerned, he satisfied himself with placing a strict watch upon the house in Adam Street where we had located him. I myself retired a little into the background, although I remained in the closest touch with Miss Weston. Her information was always interesting, always suggestive. The whole scheme gradually unfolded itself.

"One of the out-ports at Waterloo," he announced, "seems to remember a small furniture van backed up against the pavement some distance away from where the majority of the ladies were unloading."

"He didn't notice the name on it, I suppose," I added. "No such luck! There's another thing, though. One of the old hands there told another of my fellows that he noticed several porters about that night, when Sayers was quite unfamiliar to him and whom he has seen since. The driver of the bus from the Milan insists upon it, as you remember, that Madam de Miguel pushed away the first porter who accosted them, and insisted upon employing two of her own choosing."

THE telephone-bell rang. I recognized Miss Weston's voice at the other end. I listened to what she had to say, and in ten minutes we were in my car and on the way to Twickenham. We picked up Miss Weston herself in Kensington. "The woman whom I have been following," she announced, "is only a few minutes ahead of us. She is in a private car, and there is a strange man seated in front with the chauffeur."

"It looks well," Rimmington admitted. "Our friend has ordered the same table for dinner tonight at Romano's."

On our way I had a moment of uneasiness. A gray touring-car passed us at a great speed and shot down the Brentford Road, conspicuously ahead of us. Rimmington spoke for a moment through the tube, and we pulled up at the district police-station.

"We've given Michael rope enough," he decided. "He may get the alarm at any moment now. I'm going to have him arrested."

"REMEMBER IT IS THE WOMAN YOU MUST WATCH. ENGAGE AS MUCH HELP AS YOU DESIRE."

WE turned off the main road at Twickenham, and finally stopped before the gates of a large, old-fashioned villa, badly out of repair and apparently empty. The grounds sloped down to the river, and the gates were padlocked. We climbed over, leaving Miss Weston behind. She detained us for one moment. "The house is called the Sanctuary," she said. "Goodson, the sculptor, lived here once."

colored to have been the studio. The door of a long outbuilding stood open. We paused to look inside. There was a furniture van there, and inside, some clothing of rusty corduroy. The uniforms of the pseudo-porters at Waterloo were accounted for.

Entrance to the studio itself was gained by means of a stout oak door, obviously barred and bolted. We went round to the back, crossing a lawn where the grass and weeds were up to our knees. We failed to discover any other door, but somehow or other we found our way through a smashed window into the great room with its dome-shaped ceiling. I think, even as we entered, we realized we were too late.

The place was empty. A small forge was burning; there were several strange-looking vessels lying about the floor; the co-fers, covered only by a piece of matting which Rimmington kicked aside, were ranged against the wall. There was not a sound to be heard, but the place smelled of tobacco smoke, and indeed there was a faint cloud of blue smoke still hanging about the roof.

"We've lost them!" Rimmington muttered. "We have the gold, though," I reminded him. "And Michael, I trust," was the fervent rejoinder.

WE searched the house, which was empty and desolate. Then we went to the local police-station and arranged for the gold to be removed. Afterward we called on the house agent. He made a little grimace when we mentioned the Sanctuary.

"Thought I'd let it to a lady sculptor," he declared. "She paid for the house for a month, to see whether she could work there—wanted to do her own casting or something."

Most of Curwensville churches will observe Easter Sunday by holding extra services in the Sunday Schools and also in the preaching program.

Now that the law of speed signs have been planted within borough limits and on the mostly traveled thoroughfares, will the ordinance governing the same be strictly enforced by Burgess Erhard and his policeman? Heretofore motorists regulated speed to suit themselves and turned right around on squares whenever it suited their fancy. Car drivers and owners run the town for a year past, and now that the letter of the law has been complied with in every particular in new signs, let the borough authorities put a heavy foot down and run affairs lawfully and in their way.

We were informed the other day that the B. & P. railroad company were figuring on plans for double tracking the stretch of road between DuBois and Clearfield. Further, that the Lake Shore road, now using the B. & P. track between the above mentioned two points, were contemplating very seriously building its own road, over a survey made several years ago, the line touching Curwensville on the north side of the cemetery.

INDIANA DOCTOR SAYS ELECTRIC TREATMENT OLD

Indiana, Pa., March 27 1923
Editor Gazette:

I read with interest an article on Electricity for Pneumonia in your issue of March 24th, 1923.

The article states that Dr. Dreese, on X-ray specialist of St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, N. J., has treated 20 cases. All recovered. The article also states that Dr. Harry Stewart, of Yale, developed the treatment, and used it with excellent results in the U. S. Marine hospital on Staten Island.

I wish to state to you Mr. Editor that I have used this line of treatment since March 12th, 1916, and with success in about 95 per cent of the cases treated. I have repeatedly been asked to write about articles on this subject by manufacturers of these treatment machines, but did not do so for two reasons: first, I did not do so, for by so doing I might have classified myself with the electrical quack, second, I did not have hospital facilities to work out my data and dosage for the same, but had to do it in private homes, among my friends, who had faith in me, and also where electricity was available.

I am writing you this not for publicity, but to let you know that we are on the map with Hoboken and Staten Island, and while there is a saying that "What we don't know don't hurt us," we also can enjoy more if we know more.

Thanking you for the courtesy of reading this, I remain,
Sincerely yours,
E. F. SHAULIS.

Patterns in Writing

Nor are the experiments of the grand manner, of an ornate style, to be patterned after. If elevation of thought is not present then the poet of "fine writing" is scarcely to be avoided. Better follow such writers as Bacon, Bunyan, Hobbes, Swift in preference. Or the Augustan group, Dryden, Addison, Shaftesbury, and Temple. But Doctor Johnson, Burke and Gibbon are not models for the beginner, any more than the orotund prose of Hesseus, the musical utterance of Chateaubriand, or the dramatic prose of Hugo are the safe models for French students. The rich concinnity of Maupassant, the witty wit of Voltaire are sure guides. And the urbane ease and flowing rhythms of Thackeray are preferable to the baroque verbal bantams of Carlyle the Bonapartes—James Huneker.

Pictures and Frames. Those old picture frames that go begging around the attic or cellar may be made into some of the delightful new models with little trouble and less expense. Old white enamel or oak frames may be treated as follows: With a bit of glass carefully scrape off all the enamel or polish. Sandpaper it to a smooth finish with a coarse sandpaper and later with a finer grade. For a soft brown print the frame will be just right at this stage. Some of the best picture frames that are finishing place in the best shops show no stain or color of any kind. Artists claim that the decorative frame detracts from the beauty of the picture within.

When the notice came telling me that I must vacate the room that I have been using to give you better merchandise for less money for the past five years, I decided that I must bow to the fates and get out just as soon as I could possibly reduce my stocks to where it would be far easier to move. The notice was imperative that I vacate by April 1st.

As soon as I could get things in shape I started this GIGANTIC REMOVAL SALE and you who have been here to take advantage of the offerings will agree that I have been sincere in trying to reduce my stocks to a minimum. Prices have been cut in half in many cases and in others profits have been sacrificed to the very wholesale price.

Tomorrow I will have some startling bargains to offer you and most of them will be for the chap who wants to buy his Easter outfit for much less money than ordinary stores will ask.

So be sure to watch for tomorrow's announcement.

Concerning Holland.

Holland is one of the few countries in the world that live up to the expectations of the traveler so far as looks are concerned.

All the World Feeds New York.

The world combines to feed New York. Take the week before Christmas for example. Every section of this and of foreign countries where things are growing at this time of year seems eager to prevent monotony in the food supply of the great city.

There are onions from Spain, big red cherries from Argentina, potatoes, carrots and beets from Bermuda, luscious hot house grapes and fresh produce from Belgium, cabbage from Denmark, pineapples from Porto Rico, tomatoes from the Canary Islands and the Bahamas, green vegetables from the Azores, apricots, plums and peaches from Chile, strawberries from Florida and California, and hot house products from all parts of the United States.

NO PROMISES MADE TO PUT BILL THROUGH GOVERNOR DECLARES

Harrisburgh, Pa., March 28.—Following the passage of the enforcement bill today, Governor Gifford Pinchot said:

"I am delighted over the victory, which means great things for Pennsylvania."

"Not the least of my satisfaction comes from the fact that not a single promise of any sort, direct or indirect, was made to influence a single vote on our side."

"This is an unbought victory and ten times as valuable on that account."

Front panels and wide belts with fringes are at the present time the only definite garment lines borrowed from the Egyptians. Most of the borrowed ideas are for evening.

H. B. POWELL CELEBRATES FIFTY-ONE YEARS' CONNECTION WITH THE COUNTY NATIONAL BY DOING BIG DAY'S WORK

Today marked the 51st anniversary of President H. B. Powell's connection with the County National Bank, Clearfield county's oldest and
largest banking institution. When
Mr. Powell entered his office at the
bank this morning he found a hand-
some bouquet on his desk, the gift of
the employees of the bank, as a reminder of his passing of another milestone in the bank's service.

Fifty-one years ago, or on March 28, 1872, the worthy President, then a
bright, energetic country boy with his
life before him, and the purpose in
mind of making his way in the world,
entered the bank as a sort of messenger boy or handy man about the
little banking institution which has
since grown into such a sturdy financial giant. Alert and attentive to
his duties he soon made himself indispensable about the place, by rea-

son of his industry and energy. And
by sheer merit alone advanced by the
slow but sure methods of this
stable, conservative, careful country
banking institution until he reached
the top and was placed in the responsible position he has graced the
past eighteen years.

Mr. Powell grew up with the bank,
his development as a successful bank-
er and financier easily equalling the
growth of his bank, until today he is
looked upon in financial circles as one
of the ablest and best equipped bankers in the State of Pennsylvania. His
advice and opinions being widely
sought and universally respected.

Some men and some institutions
consider half a century the measure
of a man's business activity and provide for retirement at that golden

WOODROW WILSON PREPARING TO TAKE BIG PART IN SELECTION OF THE 1924 DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEES

Washington, D. C. March 28.—

ing his health has been taking a more
active part in politics, will endeavor
to play a prominent part in the selection of a Democratic candidate for President in 1924 according to his
closest friends here.

Mr. Wilson, as his health continues
to improve, has been prominent in
party affairs during the last few
weeks and is said to have had conferences with political leaders at his home on S. Street. Mr. Wilson's
great hope still is that the United States will join the League of Nations and he is desirous of having
nominated a man pledged to such a course.

VON HINDENBURG TELLS GERMANS TO FIGHT UNTIL LAST BLADE IS SHATTERED; LAST FLAG SHREDDED

Socialists Trying to Save Republic From Ruin at Hands of
Pan-German Element

By CARL D. GROAT.

Berlin, March 28 (United Press)—

Pan-Germans and Junkers, always
warlike, are again at work preaching an anti-French war.

The Ruhr invasion furnishes them
the theme they needed to inflame a
people really war-tired. So now one
hears up and down the land the cry of the savior-chair patriot and the loud-shouted vapors of the swol-

len junker landlord, preaching revenge. Socialists are trying hard to
down this blurb.

General Von Hindenburg, often
accused of lending himself either wit-
tingly or unwittingly to the machina-
tions of the "beer keg parties" is
helping preach the new war. He talks
of fighting "until the last flag is

The Pinchot law:
Repeals the Brooks high license act, with the Woner act
amendments, and this abolishes
all licenses for the sale of beverages with the half of 1 per cent of alcoholic content per mitted under the Volstead act.

It allows the sale of such
drinks without restrictions, and
any change in authorized alcoholic content, that shall be
made by congress, will automatically become effective in Pennsylvania.

It permits search without
warrant, by any law officer, of
any automobile, truck or other
vehicle, boat or airplane, or of
any container carried by a pedestrian which he may suspect is
being used to carry intoxicating
liquors.

The search and seizure clause
authorizes a warrant for the entrance of a house at any time,
upon information alleging reasonable grounds for belief that
liquor is being sold on the premises, and any liquor found may
be seized, the owner being obliged to prove that the same
was acquired prior to the enactment of the bill. The Vol-
stead act restrictions, as to the
issuance of such warrants, are
provided.

Aldermen, magistrates and justices of the peace are authorized
to issue warrants.

Places other than homes may
be searched, under search warrants which allege reasonable
grounds for belief that liquor is
either unlawfully possessed
sold, manufactured or stored
therein.

Any building or place, where
liquor is being made or sold un-
lawfully, may be closed as a
public nuisance for one year.

Violation of the law is punishable by fine of from $100 to $5,000, or imprisonment for
terms up to three years in addition to confiscating of liquor
and property, including automobiles or other vehicles used in
unlawful transportation.

It provides that possession of
intoxicating liquor shall be primarily evidence that it was
acquired, possessed and used
unlawfully, and the burden of
proof that it was not, rests
upon the accused.

WILL REQUIRE THIRTY-SIX HOURS TO READ BILL WHICH PROVIDES FOR BIG CHANGES IN SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT

PREDICTS THREE MORE BILLS WILL BE INTRODUCED IN PINCHOT DRY PLAN

The Philadelphia Record discussing
the Pinchot dry bill yesterday intimat-
ed that the administration has man-prohibition legislation which it will introduce before the closing hour to-
day which is the last day for introduction of bills in the House.

The Record has the following comment to make:

It is just beginning to dawn upon
the House that the Snyder "dry" bill
is merely the first of a series that
the Governor proposes to have introduced, and that is the wood pile in
which the colored gent is concealed.
In the event of the passage of mea-
sure No. 1, according to reliable information tonight, it will be followed:

First, by a bill licensing breweries
for the manufacture of near beer.

Second, by a bill licensing wholesal-
ers for the sale of the product.

Third, a bill taxing retailers who
dispense near beer, regardless of
whether they are classed as "saloons,"
cigar stores, pool rooms, restaurants
or any other sort of establishment.

The outstanding feature of the Pin-
chot enforce is a clause abolishing
license and thereby relieve the manufacturers, the wholesalers and the retailers of the obligation of paying a
tax in the shape of a license fee.
"Why, then," the lawmakers are asking, "does the Governor come into the House with a bill abolishing the license and the tax and in subsequent
bills restore both provisions?"

If near beer, as the Governor apparently feels, is so harmless, why
try to regulate its manufacture or
sale? Those opposing the enforce
as drawn have contended from the beginning that under the existing system the courts have more power over
the control of this product than is
contemplated in the administration
measure. For that reason they are unable to see the logic in the Governor's position.

Divine Sarah Lies In The Coffin Which Has Been Ready For Thirty Years

Paris, March 28.—The body of Sarah Bernhardt lies today in the rose
wood coffin which she has had ready
for thirty years.

The funeral services will begin at 8:00 a. m. the funeral cortege going
from the residence to the church of St.
Francis DeSales, where the beloved French artist worshipped. The formal rites of the Catholic church will
be read there and then at 11:00 the
remains will be taken to the famous
burial ground Pere LaChaise, where
hundreds of France's most distinguished heroes lie. Later the body may be removed to Belle Isle where a vault
will be prepared on the spot Bern-
hardt selected as a final resting place.

THEY COME IN BUNCHES HERE

They say "there is a sucker born every minute," but they come in
bunches right here in Clearfield, ever
after they have grown up and ought to know better. That, too, when some fellow horns in and saves the day for
them—before all is lost.

Gathers Over Hundred State Agencies Under Eighteen Heads With Gov. of Finance Head

Harrisburg, Pa., March 28.—Gov-
nor Pinchot's proposal to reorganize
the state government, mapped out in
a huge bill which will take thirty-six
hours to read, was before the Legislature today.

With the dry legislation he sought
already a law, Pinchot has targeted his
planks of his platform, budget and
reorganization.

His long waiting administrative code, now under way, would reorganize the government to gather up the
ends, centralizing power and especially concentrating the finance control in
the hands of the Governor.

The code would gather up the more
than one hundred existing separate
agencies of the state government and
place them in fifteen departments and
three commissions.

Junior High Students Break Banking Record Have $3,076 On Deposit

Junior High school pupils made
a record for thrift this school term
of which they have every reason to be proud. The banking plan which was introduced into our schools a couple
of years ago, appealed to the boys
and girls right off the reel, and as a result thereof many young people
have been "dead banks."

There was a contest among the
schools for cash prizes for the best record made for the season, that concluded closing with today's banking. The final checking up and tally showed that Junior High School pupils had
banked thus far in the present school
term a total of $3,076, or something
over $1,100 more than the total for
last year.

HART'S WIFE COMES BACK STRONG WHEN BILL ACCUSES HER

Los Angeles, March 28.—Mrs. Wm.
Hart today denied charges made by
her husband, Bill Hart, movie star
that she was responsible for reports
connecting his name with that of a Boston school teacher.

Hart in reply to insinuations that
he was the father of this teacher's il-
legitimate child and that he was paying for the child's support stated that
his wife is responsible for the report.

Mrs. Hart, who is suing for divorce
stated she would not mention this in
her charges. "What Mr. Hart did before I married him is no concern of
mine." "This new development has
no bearing on our trouble," she said.

Charles W. Davis, alias Taylor, 73,

other than to live in shame." Forget horrors of last war. He is looked by men, who like him, have forgotten the horrors of 1914 and the fateful outcome for the "Vaterland." For instance, Major Sosa engaged in a pro-war propaganda campaign by one of the "fath-erlandish" organizations, emits the following:

"Rather sacrifice another million of our best youth; rather lay more bleeding districts in ashes and ruins than to settle the Ruhr conflict through negotiations."

And, joining in this new hymn of hate comes the pan-German Reichstag Deputy, Herr von Helldorf, who coined the powerful phrase that the Americans couldn't come, since they couldn't fly or swim, and delivers himself of what the Germans term "beer keg evidence" thus:

Occupation Fanned War Flame. These figures do not represent the German nation as a whole, though there can be no mistaking that the Ruhr occupation has fanned the war spirit vastly. And, there can be no mistaking that, if Germany once gets a new look, she will try to smite France. The Ruhr occupation swept away pacifism in Germany. This year's "Nie wieder Krieg" demonstration proved the new spirit. A few hundred attended this never-again-war meeting, held indoors, compared to demonstrations in other years since the war wherein the Lustgarten was jammed to overflowing by an attendance of several hundred thousands.

The Socialists are educating the masses not to "fall for" the vaporings of the professional war-makers and they have been active in pointing out past links between the Reichswehr and the so-called forbidden "self defense" organization. It has been rather clearly established that certain army officers—the army is conservative or monarchistic for the most part—were helping drill these "self-defenders."

Enough War in the Ruhr. "Down in the Ruhr they don't talk war—they are 'carrying the hod.' They know what 'war' is, even though it consists only of passive resistance. And the workers there are eager constantly the government wouldn't pass any opportunities to negotiate, though they add it mustn't be a 'peace at any price.' The populace bubbles over now and then and it can come to bloody scenes. But the masses there say real war would be a misfortune without comparison in the world's history. The stay-at-homes, like the Prussian junkers, though, still think that war is "glorious" business, and if they had their way—which the saner elements are guarding against—there would be a war, guerilla or otherwise in short order. Defense Minister Gessler says only the "Verruecken"—the mad—are preaching war now.

poried, but not so with H. B. Powell. He, emulating Tennyson's "Brook," continues on forever, with no lessening of energy. And it is the fervent wish of his friends, the friends of the County National and this community that he may long continue so, as he is an asset to the community that could not be replaced. His clear-headed business judgment during the past half century has been a large factor in the substantial development of our town and county and his life and the success he has earned for himself has been an incentive to success and a model, and will long continue so to be, for the young men and women of Clearfield.

Despite the story the years should tell Mr. Powell remains the sturdy, energetic, clear-thinking banker at his best and reels off work enough every day to overtax the capacity of two or three average men.

Many business and personal friends called at Mr. Powell's office in the bank today to offer congratulations and while chatting reminiscently he stated that of the men engaged in business or employed in the business establishments of Clearfield when he started with the bank, those yet living are John G. Lytle, who was in the mercantile business; John W. Wright, a conveyancer; in Senator Wallace's office; A. W. Lee, lumber, etc.; S. I. Snyder, jeweler; Clement W. Smith, real estate; while A. I. Page was clerking in Weaver & Betts general store, and A. D. Letzinger employed in Kratzer's store.

May the years continue to deal kindly with H. B. Powell, Clearfield needs him for many years to come.

TRINITY'S HOLY WEEK SERVICES

Have been very profitable and inspiring. The Cross has centered in the music and all the worship. Anthem and chorals together with individual selections have enriched the services. In every one of them the Cross has been the prime theme. This has co-ordinated finely with the cardinal topic for the week, "On His Way to the Cross," which has received comforting presentation and excited faithful interest among the people.

Strangers and members have entered the church for prayer and worship. Trinity has made much of this Holy Week. It is getting proportionate to the church has been kept open every day has been appreciated and widely commented upon.

Tonight's study will be "On His Way, But Hounded." It will take in the demand for His authority, the insidious question concerning the tribute money, the artful query on the resurrection, the lawyer's curious interrogation concerning the relative importance of divine commands, and the Master's silencing question about the paternity of the Messiah. This is particularly men's night. After the meeting, trustees' monthly conference.

Thursday night promises to be a large event for the Methodists of this Clearfield sector. From every one of the outlying appointments they will come to join those of this community in celebrating the Lord's Supper. Rev. J. P. M. Curdy, G. B. M. Reidell, and A. C. Clarksburg, W. The zephyr swished his coat tail and revealed that he had a pint of moonshine on his hip. Two deputy sheriffs happened to be just behind him.

What is Fastest Living Animal? Man makes a poor show, for the speed of our best sprinters is little more than 20 miles an hour. For some time it was thought that the whippet, which covers a furlong course in about 11 seconds, could claim the title; but his speed, which works out at just over 40 miles an hour, is beaten when compared with that of the antelope, who is capable of reaching a speed of over 60 miles an hour and of keeping it up for some time. What of the racehorse? His great size and his long stride give a false impression of his speed. The pace of the fastest winner on the race track is not much more than 30 miles an hour.

Give Them Help and Many Clearfield People Will Be Happier. "Throw Out the Life Line"—Weak kidneys need help. They're often overworked—they don't get the poison filtered out of the blood.

Will you help them? Doan's Kidney Pills have brought benefit to thousands of kidney sufferers.

Clearfield testimony prove their worth. Ask your neighbor! Philip Lucas, R. F. D. No. 2, Clearfield, says: "I had an attack of kidney trouble. There was a continual dull ache in my back that bothered me and I was tired out all the time. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they did me a lot of good, removing the pains in my back and that tired feeling."

All credit to Senator W. I. Batts, Assemblyman Charles B. Jones and W. Hale Batts, Clearfield County's representative, in the Legislature. All voted for the Prohibition Enforcement Bill. So did the representatives from Indiana, Jefferson, Centre and Blair. Even the Cambria delegation only had one web footed fellow in the lot.

Practically the entire one hundred votes against the bill were cast by the Philadelphia and Allegheny County delegations. The former gave 30 of the 100 and the latter 16. Allegheny County, however, came through with 11 for the bill.

Three of the women members voted against the bill. The two from Philadelphia giving no reasons, they being merely mouthpieces of the Philadelphia organization while Miss Helen Grimes made a sad spectacle trying to give an explanation of her curious beliefs.

The passage of the bill is considered a great triumph for Governor Pinchot as the eyes of the entire nation were turned toward this state and already it has gained him considerable mention among Presidential possibilities.

Movement of Flying Fishes
Some highly interesting observations on the flying fishes have been made by Dr. E. H. Hinkle in the Arabian sea. In still weather the length of a glide was about a meter with considerable upward lift. In a light wind this was increased to from 200 to 400 meters. A resplendent line between the wing action of starting glides and the action of the fish was marked. In fact the wing action is inclined upward and the body part at a higher level than the base. In slow glide flight, while the slow glide and inclination is at a high speed—Scientific American.

What a Boy Thinks of You
A boy's sheepishness is by no means a sign of overmastering reverence and, while you are making encouraging advances to him under the idea that he is overwhelmed by a sense of your age and wisdom, up to you he is thinking you extremely queer. The only consolation I can suggest to you is that the Greek boys thought the same of Attila. It is only when you have mastered a festive horse or the shy in a dream or have got a gun in your hand that these shy fellows feel you to be a truly admirable and enviable character—Lunching.

Simplicity Is Fashionable

Discarding gewgaws of trimming, these young women pride themselves on their odd sleeves, smart blouses, full skirts and lack of adornment. Wool crepe, wool jersey, flat crepe and Canton are the preferred materials for such simple street and afternoon dresses as these. Shedding His Horns.
The interest in the growth development and shedding of the horns of the Antelope has always been a question of decided interest. For a long time it was stoutly disputed that the antelope shed its horns, and the subject constantly found its way into the sporting journals and magazines. I had the honor of being in one of those and the question arose by attention being called to it in an article by a retired soldier of the army. In a somewhat elaborate article, this writer strongly denied that the antelope ever shed its horns, and the editor of the aforesaid magazine invited me to take the matter up for him. My opinion was that his correspondent was wrong, as the shedding of the horns of this animal has now been known to science for many years, and has been carefully studied and described by a great many competent naturalists—Dr. R. W. Shufeldt, in American Forestry Magazine.

Another Lamb Anecdote.

MEET HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins between Michael Sayers, noted criminal, and Sir Norman Greyer, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, moves him from his Norman Gray mansion and Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. Michael plots to rob two men, Sir Norman and Sir Greyer, of their gold and Sayers' housemaid, Janet, is brought into England to assist in the robbery. Sir Norman and Sir Greyer, who are both wealthy, are both in the habit of leaving their gold in boxes in their houses. Janet, who is a very clever girl, is brought into England to assist in the robbery. Sir Norman and Sir Greyer, who are both wealthy, are both in the habit of leaving their gold in boxes in their houses. Janet, who is a very clever girl, is brought into England to assist in the robbery.

Sir Norman Continues:

"You are satisfied," my companion asked. "Perfectly," I assured her. "I am going to run no further risk of being recognized. I shall pay the bill and go. You will remain. Remember, it is the woman you must watch. Sayers as much help as you require. She must be watched unceasingly."

I TOOK my departure, and at this stage of my search for the missing gold, I took Rimmington into my confidence. He agreed with me as to the advisability of allowing Michael to remain at large for the present; and so far as he was concerned, he satisfied himself with placing a strict watch upon the house in Adam Street where we had located him. I myself retired a little into the background, although I remained in the closest touch with Miss Weston. Her information was always interesting, always suggestive. The whole scheme gradually unfolded itself.

"He didn't notice the same on it, I suppose," I added. "No such luck! There's another thing, though. One of the old hands there told another of my fellows that he noticed several porters about that night, when Sayers was quite unfamiliar to him and whom he has seen since. The driver of the bus from the Milan insists upon it, as you remember, that Madame de Miguel pushed away the first porter who accosted them, and insisted upon employing two of her own choosing."

THE telephone-bell rang. I recognized Miss Weston's voice at the other end. I listened to what she had to say, and in ten minutes we were in my car and on the way to Twickenham. We picked up Miss Weston herself in Kensington. "The woman whom I have been following," she announced, "is only a few minutes ahead of us. She is in a private car, and there is a strange man seated in front with the chauffeur."

"It looks well," Rimmington admitted. "Our friend has ordered the same table for dinner tonight at Romano's."

On our way I had a moment of uneasiness. A gray touring-car passed us at a great speed and shot down the Brentford Road, conspicuously ahead of us. Rimmington spoke for a moment through the tube, and we pulled up at the district police-station.

"We've given Michael rope enough," he decided. "He may get the alarm at any moment now. I'm going to have him arrested."

I drew a little breath. It was hard to think that I should not be present at the end for which I had worked so zealously, but I realized the risk of letting him remain at large any longer. I waited while Rimmington entered the police-station and spoke to headquarters. When he returned, he brought with him a couple of plain-clothes men, one of whom sat in the front and the other with us. "There will probably be half a dozen of them," Rimmington pointed out. "And from what I know of the gang that Michael generally employs, there may be a little trouble. We'll leave Miss Weston in the car."

WE turned off the main road at Twickenham, and finally stopped before the gates of a large, old-fashioned villa, badly out of repair and apparently empty. The grounds sloped down to the river, and the gates were padlocked. We climbed over, leaving Miss Weston behind. She detained us for one moment. "The house is called the Sanctuary," she said. "Goodson, the sculptor, lived here once." We hurried off. The place showed every sign of desolation, but there were marks of recent wheels upon the avenues, and as we turned the last corner we saw a thin cloud of smoke curling upward from a long range of outbuildings which looked like a sort of annex to the kitchen. Rimmington quickened his pace. We all broke into a run. We avoided the front door, with its flight of stone steps, and went straight for the building which we now perceived to have been the studio. The door of a long outbuilding stood open. We paused to look inside. There was a furniture van there, and inside, some clothing of rusty corduroy. The uniforms of the pseudo-porters at Waterloo were accounted for.

Entrance to the studio itself was gained by means of a stout oak door, obviously barred and bolted. We went round to the back, crossing a lawn where the grass and weeds were up to our knees. We failed to discover any other door, but somehow or other we found our way through a smashed window into the great room with its dome-shaped ceiling. I think, even as we entered, we knew we were too late.

The place was empty. A small forge was burning; there were several strange-looking vessels lying about the floor; the co-fers, covered only by a piece of matting which Rimmington kicked aside, were ranged against the wall. There was not a sound to be heard, but the place smelled of tobacco smoke, and indeed there was a faint cloud of blue smoke still hanging about the roof.

"We've lost them!" Rimmington muttered. "We have the gold, though," I reminded him. "And Michael, I trust," was the fervent rejoinder.

WE searched the house, which was empty and desolate. Then we went to the local police-station and arranged for the gold to be removed. Afterward we called on the house agent. He made a little grimace when we mentioned the Sanctuary.

"Thought I'd let it to a lady sculptor," he declared. "She paid for the house for a month, to see whether she could work there—wanted to do her own casting or something."

"She paid you for the month, I hope?" Rimmington inquired. "Oh, she paid that, all right," the agent replied. "I wish these old places were all pulled down. They're more trouble than they're worth."

"Did the lady bring you any reference?" I asked. "I didn't ask for any," the house agent replied frankly. "I was only too glad to get anyone even to talk about the property. Besides, the lady put the money down."

"Nevertheless," Rimmington said quietly, "as a person who has had some experience in these matters—I am Inspector Rimmington of Scotland Yard—I should advise you to be a little careful how you deal with these large, old-fashioned houses. In the present case you may be interested to know that the little forge in the studio at the Sanctuary has been used for the purpose of melting down Russian gold."

"God help us!" the agent cried. "What the Gorty and Metzger gold?" "Precisely," Rimmington acquiesced. "They're only got rid of a little of it, as it happens, but to judge from the preparations, they were going into it more extensively in a day or two."

We drove back to London, and I followed my friend into his private room with a rare thrill of excitement. I saw his face grow white and stern as he listened to the report of the man who rose to meet him. Then he turned a disconsolate face to me.

"The rooms in Adam Street are empty," he said. "Stanfield has not visited the British Museum today. We've lost him again! I ought to have known better," he added bitterly, "than to have let him remain at liberty for a single moment."

"And the woman?" I asked, a little nervously. Rimmington shook his head. "We don't want her," he said. "She's just the decoy who may some day whistle her mate to his cell. It's a knock for us, Greys. Neither De Miguel nor his wife nor Michael Sayers."

"But we have the gold," I reminded him once more. "Damn the gold!" Rimmington retorted passionately. "But Gorty thought otherwise. So, when he recovered consciousness, did Metzger."

"The Unfamiliar Triangle," eighth story of this remarkable series, will begin in our next issue.

Curwensville's Own Column

Mrs. Reynoldsville, who has been making her home with Mr. and Mrs. DeCamp, Bloomington avenue this winter, has gone to New York for a visit of several months.

Two children in the family of Raymond Bloom are afflicted by an attack of scarlet fever at the parental home on South Side. Mrs. Bloom it is stated, also is ill but not with contagious disease.

Miss Levy Hoover was down from Crumpan yesterday shopping and calling on old friends.

Most of Curwensville churches will observe Easter Sunday by holding extra services in the Sunday Schools and also in the preaching program.

Now that the law of speed signs have been planted within borough limits and on the mostly traveled thoroughfares, will the ordinance governing the same be strictly enforced by Burgess Erhard and his policeman?

Heretofore motorists regulated speed to suit themselves and turned right around on squares whenever it suited their fancy. Car drivers and owners run the town for a year past, and now that the letter of the law has been complied with in every particular in new signs, let the borough authorities put a heavy foot down and run affairs lawfully and in their way.

We were informed the other day that the B. & P. railroad company were figuring on plans for double tracking the stretch of road between DuBois and Clearfield. Further, that the Lake Shore road, now using the B. & P. track between the above mentioned two points, were contemplating very seriously building its own road, over a survey made several years ago, the line touching Curwensville on the north side of the cemetery.

Indiana, Pa., March 27 1923
Editor Gazette:

I read with interest an article on Electricity for Pneumonia in your issue of March 24th, 1923.

The article states that Dr. Dreese, on X-ray specialist of St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, N. J., has treated 20 cases. All recovered. The article also states that Dr. Harry Stewart, of Yale, developed the treatment, and used it with excellent results in the U. S. Marine hospital on Staten Island.

I wish to state to you Mr. Editor that I have used this line of treatment since March 12th, 1916, and with success in about 95 per cent of the cases treated. I have repeatedly been asked to write about articles on this subject by manufacturers of these treatment machines, but did not do so for two reasons: first, I did not do so, for by so doing I might have classified myself with the electrical quack, second, I did not have hospital facilities to work out my data and dosage for the same, but had to do it in private homes, among my friends, who had faith in me, and also where electricity was available.

I am writing you this not for publicity, but to let you know that we are on the map with Hoboken and Staten Island, and while there is a saying that "What we don't know don't hurt us," we also can enjoy more if we know more.

Thanking you for the courtesy of reading this, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
E. F. SHAULIS.

Patterns in Writing
Nor are the experiments of the grand manner, of an ornate style, to be patterned after. If elevation of thought is not present, then the poet of "fine writing" is scarcely to be avoided.

Better follow such writers as Bacon, Bunyan, Habbes, Swift in preference. Or the Augustan group, Dryden, Addison, Shaftesbury, and Temple. But Doctor Johnson, Burke and Gibbon are not models for the beginner, any more than the orotund prose of Hesiod, the musical utterance of Chateaubriand, or the dramatic prose of Hugo are the safe models for French students. The rich continuance of Plautus, the splendid concision of Nerineus, the wit of Voltaire are surer guides. And the urbane ease and flowing rhythms of Thackeray are preferable to the haphazard verbal bantams of Carlyle the Bonapartes—James Huneker.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By Stanley

Pictures and Frames. Those old picture frames that go begging around the attic or cellar may be made into some of the delightful new models with little trouble and less expense. Old white enamel or oak frames may be treated as follows: With a bit of glass carefully scrape off all the enamel or polish. Sandpaper it to a smooth finish with a coarse sandpaper and later with a finer grade. For a soft brown print the frame will be just right at this stage. Some of the best picture frames that are finishing place in the best shops show no stain or color of any kind. Artists claim that the decorative frame detracts from the beauty of the picture within.

When the notice came telling me that I must vacate the room that I have been using to give you better merchandise for less money for the past five years, I decided that I must bow to the fates and get out just as soon as I could possibly reduce my stocks to where it would be far easier to move. The notice was imperative that I vacate by April 1st.

As soon as I could get things in shape I started this GIGANTIC REMOVAL SALE and you who have been here to take advantage of the offerings will agree that I have been sincere in trying to reduce my stocks to a minimum. Prices have been cut in half in many cases and in others profits have been sacrificed to the very wholesale price.

Tomorrow I will have some startling bargains to offer you and most of them will be for the chap who wants to buy his Easter outfit for much less money than ordinary stores will ask.

So be sure to watch for tomorrow's announcement.

NO PROMISES MADE TO PUT BILL THROUGH GOVERNOR DECLARES

Harrisburgh, Pa., March 28.—Following the passage of the enforcement bill today, Governor Gifford Pinchot said:

"I am delighted over the victory, which means great things for Pennsylvania."

"Not the least of my satisfaction comes from the fact that not a single promise of any sort, direct or indirect, was made to influence a single vote on our side."

"This is an unbought victory and ten times as valuable on that account."

Fort Hamilton Famous.

When British troops forced a landing on the shore by an outpost of Colon troops were fired from the spot which later became Fort Hamilton. It was known as Denyse's Fort. After the disastrous battle of Long Island in 1776 a fort was built. Efforts to find the cornerstone laid in 1825 were not successful. "Stonewall" Jackson was baptized at the little church on St. John's and one of the historic landmarks in the city, when he was stationed at the fort in 1849. Capt. Robert E. Lee later the noted Confederate army general, was for years in command of the post and was a vestryman of the church. The batteries have been manned for the last half century by officers who have won fame in a hundred fields in defense of their country.

What Does "University" Mean?

The term university or university is often conceived of as an institution where everything is taught. This is by no means its original meaning, says Edwin A. Alderman in the World's Work. The ancient term simply meant a guild and was used of any legal corporation. The university in one sense, is the original corporation. It was only after many years that it became, in the fourteenth century, limited to a particular body and was called universitas magistrorum et scholarum. Thus it did not refer to a place at all but to a guild or body of teachers and scholars, and when it was desired to express the abstract notion of a place where students from everywhere might assemble, the phrase studium generale was used.

Ouch! Rub Backache,
Stiffness, Lumbago

Rub Pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Lumber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

Egyptian designs like these sketched are appearing in embroidery and bedding on new frocks and suits. Printed silks are beginning to show garb and sphinxes. Front panels and wide belts with fringes are at the present time the only definite garment lines borrowed from the Egyptians. Most of the borrowed ideas are for evening.

The Naked Sole of the SELZ $ SIX

Tells the Story

Perhaps you've noticed that some shoes have their soles covered over with nice shiny paper, while others are all painted up like a 1923 flapper.

The Selz $ Six is not ashamed to bare its sole to the whole world. No substitutes nor subterfuges lurk beneath paint or paper in this honest shoe. The tough, solid oak sole has nothing to corceal. It bears only the natural finish of the natural leather.
